Connecticut Hospitals Oppose Governor's Proposed Budget

WALLINGFORD — Jennifer Jackson, CEO, Connecticut Hospital Association (CHA), made the following statement about Governor Lamont's proposed budget.

We are strongly opposed to the proposed budget. The current Administration is not honoring the bipartisan agreement for this year or next year, and the budget makes additional cuts to hospitals.

Hospitals and health systems are key to the state's economic recovery and employ more than 100,000 people in Connecticut.

We continue to be willing partners to find a sustainable solution, but this is not it.
